About the State

Rev. J. J. Rice of Burlington, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Burlington, who is now in Europe, is expected home about the first of April.

Rev. James J. Hutchinson has succeeded Rev. E. G. French as pastor of the Congregational church in Lyndonville and began his new duties Sunday, coming from Fitch Bay, Que.

The councillors and members of the Green Mountain club are requested by the president of the club, James P. Taylor of Saxtons River, to meet at the Van Ness house in Burlington Friday afternoon, March 10, at 2 o'clock.

Rev. J. M. Brown, pastor of St. Peter's church, Rutland, announced Sunday night that during the past week several pieces of furs were stolen from parishioners during services. A week ago Sunday one woman lost a complete set of furs and Ash Wednesday a muff was missing.

Representatives of the Boston and New York dairy companies of Middlebury have been notified to begin at once an inspection of the barns of the farmers who supply milk to these two companies. The work of making the inspection will be begun during the coming week by representatives of the companies, accompanied by local physicians.

The Newport village water commissioners are shutting off the water between the hours of 9 p. m. and 6 a. m. on account of the low water in the reservoir due, it is thought, to many tanks allowing the water to run at night to prevent freezing. It is necessary to allow the reservoir to fill to insure sufficient water in case of its necessary use for extinguishing a fire.

Simon de Vries, who was injured by a fall from a trolley car and taken to the Rutland Memorial hospital, was arrested at the institution recently, charged with the larceny of $125 from his landlady in New Adams, Mass. It is said the man is engaged in a bunco game of getting slightly injured on trains and trolley cars and then bringing suit against the companies.

The authorities of the university of Vermont, Burlington, have asked Dr. C. H. Beebe of Burlington to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. A. O. J. Kelley of Philadelphia and to give the lectures in medicine for the remainder of the term. Doctor Beebe was formerly Doctor Kelley's assistant. The matter of filling the chair permanently will be settled at a later date.

Fidardo Serri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Serri of Proctor, a graduate of the Proctor high school and now a student in Yale university, has for the second time won the Thatcher prize of $50 as the best debater in the university. He chose for his subject this year, "Resolved, that all officers elected by popular vote should be nominated by primary nominations made by the people," taking the affirmative side in the debate.

Middlebury has been threatened with a water famine and the supply was shut off Friday and Saturday nights to allow the water to rise. Upon investigation, it was found that some of the air valves of the water pipe leading to the reservoir had become stopped up and the water was therefore air bound. There was also quite a leak in the supply tank of the Rutland railroad. The fire engine has been put in working order so as to be prepared in case of fire while the water is so low.

The outlook at the present time is that Middlebury will witness another building boom during the coming summer. Besides a new gymnasium and power house on Middlebury college campus, the college will also erect a double house for the accommodation of professors of the college. The school district of this village voted recently to build a new school building. As soon as the weather will permit Col. Joseph Battell will erect a three-story business block adjoining his block on the corner of Merchants' row and Main street. In addition there will be begun, as soon as the frost is out of the ground, the erection of several private residences.

David Daley of West Rutland was injured at the quarries of the Clarendon Marble company at Clarendon Springs Saturday morning by falling from the derrick to the ground. Daley had gone up the derrick boom with an oil can to lubricate the axle pin of the main pulley and instead of coming back by way of the boom started to slide down the large wire rope. Forgetting that his mittens had become oily and that the rope was dampened by the steam from the quarry, until it was too late, he dropped about 25 feet with rapidity striking upon the bank of the quarry with great force which badly shattered his right leg at the thigh. He was taken to the Rutland hospital. Besides the fractured limb, Daley was badly bruised and shaken up.

H. P. Simpson, steward at Montpelier seminary, has recently become the possessor of an antique and interesting heirloom. The issue of the Hampshire Gazette, published in Northampton, Mass. from 1798 to 1800 was recently presented to Mr. Simpson by Robert Gay of Sheffield. The papers contain the accounts of the death of Washington, the war with Tripoli, the Louisiana purchase and many other historical events. The style of the paper and print is very interesting to the people of today. The "news" that was published then was often weeks old and shows the slow methods of communication. The papers were first rescued by Mr. Gray's great grandfather who was also a relative of Mr. Simpson. The papers are highly prized by their possessor.

IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Butter Supply Larger Than Usual in March, Egg Market Firm.

Boston, March 8.—There is a better inquiry for butter in the local market and actual sales show some increase, but prices are not stronger as a result of the increased demand. The explanation is that supplies of both fresh and storage butter are larger than they usually are at this season of the year, and dealers are not in the least disposed to discourage buying by stiffening their prices at every little sign of activity. The market has been, and still is, a buyers' affair. The cheese market does not change much; the demand is quiet, supplies are large and moderate differences over prices are not secured for the time being. The egg market continues firm, the demand is good and receipts, especially of hennessy stock, are light, the market keeps closely sold up.

Jobbing quotations:—Butter—Fancy northern creamery, tubs 27@28c, boxes 28@29c, prints 29@30c, fancy western creamery, spruce tubs 27@28c, ash tubs 26@27c, fancy storage creamery 25@26c, fair to good creamery 23@25c, dairy 22@25c. Cheese—New York twins, fancy 15½@16c, Vermont twins, fancy 14½@15c, fair to good stock 13@14c, Young America 17½@18c, sage 17½@18c. ### REASONS FOR EARLY PLOWING.

When the Grain to Be Planted is Corn.

The great majority of our readers will do well to plow land for corn just as soon as it is dry enough to go on to with a team, writes T. B. Terry in the Practical Farmer. Then, when the plowed land has dried off so horses will not pack it unduly, the surface should be harrowed over. This puts the land into shape so one can prevent an excessive evaporation of water from the soil and, also, it takes out surplus water that would become stagnant. And then it is always well to have the earth for some distance down saturated with water to the utmost degree. Now, where you plow very early, as soon as the land is dry enough, capillary action is largely broken off by the turned furrows. There is something of a break between furrows and solid land below, so water does not rise steadily. Thus one prevents waste of subsoil moisture. And keeping surface freshly stirred whenever the soil becomes dry will check evaporation from that.

The soil you are preparing for corn contains large quantities of the materials from which available plant food is made. These materials are in an inert condition largely. Nature, by action of frost, sun, rain, and the action of the soil, is ready for plants to use each season; more some years than others. Now man, with our present knowledge, can easily make considerable more of these inert materials ready for crops to use. This can be done by means of tillage. After plowing early do not let the surface at any time dry up hard and a crust form. Stir it with some tools as soon as dry enough after every shower or wet spell. And pulverize the soil. Do all the work when the land is dry, unless it is very sandy. To illustrate, we can plow our land about the first of April. The latter part of May is usually soon enough to plant corn. This gives six or seven weeks for spring fallowing of the land. I would try to work it thoroughly at least once a week, on the average. Thus air will get into soil better, more of it will be exposed to the action of the sun and new particles will be brought in contact with each other. All of these tend to make more plant food ready for the crop. Better be a little late putting in corn on thoroughly prepared land than early on poorly prepared.

There is little land plowed for corn now that does not have a good many weed seeds in it. This spring fallow, thoroughly carried out, will cause many of these to sprout and the young plants will be killed in the seed bed, or before. This is an important point. It takes food and water to grow weeds. Better save them for the corn and have a larger yield. One who is working faithfully for a purpose can almost clean his corn land in six weeks. Then he may add in many cases 10 or 20 bushels to the crop as a result of the plant food made available by tillage. At the same time he can manage to check excessive evaporation from the soil. Thus there is plenty of water to dissolve the food, no matter how dry the season, if plenty of vegetable matter has been furnished. Water is as essential as food, because corn cannot eat dry food. It must be reduced to a liquid form like soup. There is big pay for the farmer who attends to all these matters.

A Dangerous Experiment.

Joe Bailey of Texas, good little Joe, Joe of the many-colored political coat, high-minded Rollover youth that he is, decided a few moments before noon on Saturday that the Democratic senators were a wicked, vulgar lot of radical hoodlums, and he decided to play with; so he notified Vice President Sherman and Governor Colquhoun of Texas that they would have to get along without him in the future.

Whereupon dense black gloom clouds arose over the capitol in Washington, at Austin, and above 26 Broadway. The portentous and threatening character of the impending catastrophe became so pronounced during the afternoon hours of Saturday that Joe, genuinely alarmed, for his country and his state, etc., took back his resignation before sundown. The skies promptly cleared, and Texas is now preparing for a great celebration. It seems that Joe was wise in his prompt back-up—for his own sake. Considering his prominent position in the Lorimer scandal and the other things in his career, Joe took grave night have been snuffed up.

Next time there may be no vice president to throw arms about his neck and to implore him to control his bad temper. It is most significant that but eleven senators, practically the list of Democrats who voted to keep Lorimer in his seat and against the popular election of senators, joined in the hurry-up telegram to the governor of Texas not to accept the senatorial resignation. It is to be surmised that the twenty-one other Democratic senators were asked to sign the telegram, and the absence of their names does not indicate that they feel that their party or the country would totter and fall if the Texas senator should withdraw his support.—New York Globe.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION.

Town of Hartford Votes for 150th Anniversary Celebration.

The town of Hartford voted no license yesterday, the vote standing 209 to 143. Ex-Gov. S. E. Pingree was re-elected as town clerk. Contests for selectman and lister and school director developed, resulting in the election of George H. Fuller, C. H. Savage and C. H. Powers for the respective offices. The town debt was shown to be $138,020.20, an increase of about $13,000. The town voted $150 for Memorial day and $500 for the 150th anniversary of the town occurring next July 4, $100 was appropriated for electric lights on the fair ground road. The site of the first meeting house and town house, known as "the parade or convenient corner" at the center of the town, was given into the charge of the local chapter of the D. A. R. for protection and marking. A tax of $175 on a dollar of the grand list was voted.
